

GUEST EDITORS

Jacek Mikucki, PhD, is an Assistant Professor at the University of Warsaw, Poland. He has been involved in several projects related to media and communication in smart cities, including media platforms and the exploration of media-related risks and opportunities for deliberative communication. His research interests include new forms of media, local communication, audiovisual arts and creative industries. E-mail: j.mikucki@uw.edu.pl

Dren Gërguri is a researcher and lecturer at the University of Prishtina, Kosovo. He finished his doctoral studies in May 2021, in the “Science of Communication and Journalism” program, at the University of Pristina; currently, he is based in the US, as a Fulbright Scholar at the University of Houston. His academic work focuses on disinformation, journalism, social media, and political communication. E-mail: drengerguri@gmail.com

AUTHORS

Ioanna Archontaki is a PhD candidate and researcher at the Department of Communication and Media Studies of the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, Greece. Her focus is on media populism in the digital age. E-mail: ioannarx@media.uoa.gr

Dalma Boldog is a Senior Lecturer of Mass Communication at the Budapest Business University, a member of the editorial board of the Hungarian media studies quarterly Médiakutató, and author of the monograph Chernobyl and the Hungarian Media. Traces of a Nuclear Disaster [Csernobil és a magyar médiában. Egy atomkatasztrófa lenyomatai], L'Harmattan, 2024). Her research interests include state-socialist media systems, digital communication, and media theory. E-mail: boldog.dalma@uni-bge.hu

Emma Cieslik is a religious scholar and public historian based in Washington, DC. She is interested in religious material cultures, with a focus on the intersections of gender, sexuality, and religious traditions. Her current area of study is twentieth- and twenty-first-century religious symbology.

Iliana Giannouli is an Adjunct Lecturer and Researcher at the Department of Communication and Media Studies of the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens. Her research interests and academic publications focus on media framing, journalism and foreign correspondence. E-mail: giannoul@media.uoa.gr

Damian Guzek is an associate professor at the Institute of Journalism and Media Communication, University of Silesia in Katowice, and the principal investigator (PI) of the Polish National Science Centre's (NCN) project "Papal Authority Transformed by Changes in Communication" (2019–2023). He is also the Polish coordinator of the "T4ERI" Horizon 2020 project. He has been involved in several research projects on digital communication, religion, and politics. E-mail: damian.guzek@us.edu.pl

Achilleas Karadimitriou is an Assistant Professor of Journalism and News Content Production at the Department of Communication, Media, and Culture of Panteion University in Athens, Greece. He also works as a journalist/fact-checker on check4facts.gr platform, run by the National Centre for Social Research in Athens, Greece. His academic publications focus on broadcasting policy/evolution, news media and social media framing, and journalism professionalism/practices in the context of the platform society. E-mail: emme@panteion.gr

Stylianios Papathanassopoulos is Professor of Media Policy and Organisation at the Department of Communication and Media Studies - National and Kapodistrian University of Athens. He has written extensively on European media and politics. He is Director of the Laboratory of Journalism Studies and the MSc Program in Journalism and New Media at the Department of Communication and Media Studies, National & Kapodistrian University of Athens, Greece. E-mail: spath@media.uoa.gr

Virgo Siil is a Junior Research Fellow of Journalism Studies at the Institute of Social Studies at the University of Tartu, Estonia. He has worked as a journalist, editor and editor-in-chief. His research focuses on journalists, journalism and media use. E-mail: virgo.siil@ut.ee

Jan Słomka is a titular professor and leader of the research team on Pope Francis' theology at the Faculty of Theology, University of Silesia in Katowice, Poland. He is also a professor of theology at the Catholic Seminary in Łódź, Poland. E-mail: jan.slomka@us.edu.pl

Karina Stasiuk-Krajewska, PhD, is a researcher in social communication and media science and a professor at SWPS University, Poland. Her research interests involve the theory and analysis of discourse, ethics and professionalisation of media professions (journalism, fact-checking, public relations), as well as the structures and impact of disinformation messages. She is the author of more than a hundred scientific publications, including several monographs.

E-mail: kstasiuk-krajewska@swps.edu.pl

GUEST ENGLISH LANGUAGE EDITOR

Marcus of Derettens OÜ has, since 2006, been English language editing scholarly texts (n=1000+), mostly published as either research articles in peer-reviewed journals or chapters in edited books. E-mail: derettens@icloud.com